

VOLCANO MADE NAPLES PEOPLE MAD FROM FEAR

Purser Arrives with Story of His Personal Experiences There.

Purser Langobardi, of the Italian liner Sicilia, which got in to-day, is the first person to arrive in this city who passed through the days of terror in Naples when Vesuvius took its eruption. The Sicilia was in Genoa before the volcano became furiously active, and Langobardi went on to Naples to visit his family, arriving there on April 4, when Vesuvius first began to pour out its molten flood.

"Those days of terror," said the purser to-day, "are past my powers of description. The imagined terrors of hell cannot have any deeper impression on the mind. In midday it became as dark as the blackest night and the earth began to shake. For hours at a time the earth trembled and the thunder roared from the black, flame-lit clouds that poured from the summit of the mountain.

"Many people became actually mad from fear before the final terrible upheaval on April 7. Then the ground shook so beneath our feet that it was impossible to stand without grasping some support. The roar of thunder was deafening and the lightning blinding.

"Ashes fell in showers denser than any snow I ever saw, and mingled with this rain of ash were hot embers and burning brands. I will not attempt to describe the panic of the people. I think the entire population of Naples went temporarily mad, and the screams of women and children mingled with the uproar of the elements.

"No one slept, and the people in the streets seemed as hysterical as the women whose faces were lit up by the glow from the mountain top. At 3 o'clock on Sunday morning the top of the crater blew off, and huge fiery projectiles were sent into the sky. I expected annihilation any moment for days."

SAYS VENEZUELA SWEARS BY CASTRO

Not Known Yet Whether He Will Resume Presidency, Dr. Cardenas Explains.

The Red D liner Caracas arrived here to-day with Dr. J. Storck Cardenas, general secretary of the Venezuelan Government, and Manuel Corao, the Rockefeller of that corner of South America and Castro's backer. They were accompanied by half a score members of their families and a retinue of servants.

A tug carrying Consul-General Carlos D. Figueredo, of Venezuela, Frank S. Derand, of No. 46 Cliff street, confidential agent of the republic, and several attaches of the Venezuelan Legation at Washington, went down the bay to meet the Caracas and take off the distinguished party and their pyramid of luggage. They will be quartered at the Hotel Astor.

Though Dr. Cardenas said that a Venezuelan gambler would arrive here next week, he declared that it would not carry weight. He also denied the report that rich Venezuelans were fleeing from the country because of the threat of President Gomez to confiscate property.

"Former President Castro," he said, "is still resting at Las Teguas. The political situation of the country is unchanged. The personal and direct influence of Castro in the political life of Venezuela is a necessity. All the politicians and rich men recognize this necessity.

"If the political situation was very serious or Castro would say any word, neither I nor Gen. Corao would be here. I can't say it is likely that Castro will return to the presidency."

A farm in the spring is the very "real thing." Likewise is the fall. Of the things you will need. And presto! They grow fast and tall. Some people buy farms with buildings and barns. For less than the cost of the grounds. Of course these were "snaps." The best on the maps—Farms that Sunday World Want Ads. found.

FOUR INJURED BY EXPLOSION OF ALCOHOL

Three Seriously Burned by Flames that Followed Sent to Hospital.

Four persons were injured, three of them seriously, and one perhaps fatally, in a fire following the explosion of a can of alcohol on the night floor of the Graham Building, No. 127 Duane street, this afternoon. The most seriously hurt is John Kuhn, an office boy, fourteen years old, of No. 42 East Eighty-fourth street. He was burned all over the body. Miss Hattie Hasekamp, seventeen years old, of No. 44 Eton street, East New York, was burned about the face and hands, as was Benjamin Levy, sixty-two years old, of No. 134 Lexington avenue. They were taken to Hudson Street Hospital. D. L. Sternrich, head of the firm of G. L. Sternrich & Co., manufacturers of cigar lighters, in whose office the explosion occurred, was cut on the hands by glass blown from a window.

The fire following the explosion was quickly put out. Less than the elevator man, and several tenants of the building turned the emergency hose on it before the regular fire apparatus arrived.

John Kuhn, the office boy, was in an anteroom of the Sternrich company's office alone when the can of alcohol blew up.

Miss Hasekamp, who is employed in another office in the building, was getting ready to go home. She was in the room in Sternrich's, at the time. She and Levy dashed out in the hall leading past the anteroom just as a second flame flashed out and enveloped them.

They ran across the main hall to the office of the A. W. Erickson Advertising Agency. Their clothes were on fire, and behind them staggered young Kuhn, the elevator man, and with all his clothes nearly burned off. They were screaming with pain and once inside the door of Erickson's place fell on the floor in agony. Employees of the office with great presence of mind rolled them in rugs and coats and put out the fire. When Dr. Moore, of Hudson Street Hospital, arrived he found them all in serious condition, and it was said the Kuhn boy might not recover, since it is feared he inhaled some of the flames.

OLYMPIC GAMES AT ATHENS OPENED

King George Opens Games with Classic Speech, and 990 Athletes Begin Work.

ATHENS, April 23.—Under glorious sunshine, following a showery morning, the opening ceremony of the Olympic games was performed yesterday by King George of Greece. The huge stadium, already packed to its utmost capacity when the royal procession arrived to the strains of the Greek and British anthems.

First came a carriage containing King George and Queen Alexandra. Then came a carriage with King Edward and Queen Olga. These were followed by the carriages with Princess Victoria, the Princess of Wales, and the members of the Greek royal family, with their brilliant suites, and representatives of the various European courts.

The procession traversed the whole length of the stadium amid vociferous cheering, and the dignitaries took seats in a semicircle.

Then Crown Prince Constantine, Duke of Sparta, who is president of the games, moved from the centre of the arena, saluting King George, and read an appropriate address stating the objects of the meeting and expressing the hope that the victors, whatever their nationality, would remember that their victory had been attained on the sacred soil of Athens by descendants of the ancient Hellenes. He concluded by bidding King George to proclaim the opening.

King George arose and briefly declared the games open. The games were moved in procession around the stadium, headed by bands of music. As the 990 picked athletes of the world moved past, presenting an imposing display of physique, the crowd cheered wildly. Passing the royal party the stand and bearer of each team impressively displayed the flag of their country. King George gravely returning the salute.

The games began with gymnastic displays headed by the No. 1 American, who duplicated yesterday. The members of the royal families remained to the finish.

Dr. B. Parsons, of Yale University and the New York A. C., Roy H. Moulton, of the Knickerbocker City A. C., Mitchell and H. L. Hillman, of the New York A. C., are steadily improving and probably will be able to compete in the games. They were injured crossing the ocean.

BENSEL SAYS CITY WILL GET FREE FERRIES

Promises Greatest System in the World as Soon as Lines Can Be Bought.

Dock Commissioner Bensen promised New York the finest ferry system in the world, with free ferriage for all, this afternoon in connection with the request for several millions with a portion of which he proposes to acquire the Thirty-ninth street ferry to Brooklyn.

The Commissioner appeared before the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen and asked the approval of a bond issue of $1,800,000, which was authorized by the Board of Estimate some time ago.

"Do you propose to purchase that ferry?" asked an Alderman. "Certainly," replied the Commissioner. "The purchase has been approved and ordered, and the Corporation has had appraisers appointed to condemn the plant and franchise. I do not know of anything that has happened to change the plans and will go ahead with the purchase as soon as the money is available."

"I thought the city had enough of ferries," remarked the Alderman. "Not at all," said Commissioner Bensen. "We have had a most satisfactory experience with the Staten Island Ferry. In that ferry New York has now the finest ferry in the world, and I want to add the Thirty-ninth street ferry and others as fast as the city can get control of them. It will give this city the greatest ferry system in the world, and with free ferriage for all people. That is what we have in London. Why should we not have it here?"

The Commissioner explained that not all the $1,800,000 appropriated would be applied to buying the ferries. Only a small part of the money, he said, was appropriated for that purpose. He thought about $200,000 would be sufficient. The balance was for other intended improvements.

ALLEE SURRENDERS; NOW OUT ON BAIL

PATERSON Man Whose Accounts Are Short Declares He Did Not Leave City.

PATERSON, N. J., April 23.—George W. Allee, former Secretary of the Manchester Building and Loan Association, of this city, who disappeared on Thursday last after an alleged shortage had been discovered in his accounts, and for whom a police alarm had been sent out by the police, surrendered to-day in the Court of Special Sessions before Justice Scott, and was released on $5,000 bail to appear when wanted.

Allee was accompanied to court by his counsel, former State Senator Wood McKee.

Allee refused to make any statement for publication on advice of counsel. He said, however, that he had never left Paterson, and that the stories that he was seen going to New York were false. He would not tell where he had been in this city while the police were searching for him, but merely said that he had not left town.

The police, however, say they believe he did leave Paterson.

According to the statement of Joseph M. Conklin, the bank examiner who is going over the books of the Manchester Association, Allee had borrowed $100,000 from the association. Although all the pass-books have been called for, there are a number of them still out, and it will not be definitely known just how much the shortage will amount to until all of these books have been handed in and examined.
